ISLAND OF HAWAII WILL BE ANNEXED

MAJORITY IN THE SENATE FOR THE TREATY.

Probable Action of Japan—It Is Not Thought That Country Will Openly Interpose Any Opposition to the Measure—Sugar Trust May Fight Against It.

Washington, Nov. 12.—Ratification of the Hawaiian annexation treaty by the United States senate is assured The administration has made a poll of that body and as a result President McKinley is satisfied that more than two-thirds of the senators will vote for ratification.

When the treaty was submitted to the senate on June 16 last fifty-seven senators were depended upon to cast their votes in favor of the instrument. Eleven senators were doubtful, and twenty-one were opposed to its ratification.

Since that time the administration has taken steps to ascertain the views of the men who were then in doubt. As a result President McKinley is depending upon sixty-one senators who will certainly cast their votes in favor of the treaty, with prospects of the addition of several votes to this number.

The treaty is in excellent shape for prompt action. It was fully considered by the senate committee on foreign relations, reported to the senate and placed on the calendar with practically the unanimous indorsement of the committee. There were no votes cast against it, though Senators Turpie and Daniel refrained from voting because they had not fully made up their minds as to what position they would take in the matter.

It is said to be the purpose of Chairman Davis, at the first executive session, to ask that a day be fixed for taking up the treaty. Ratification during the early part of the year is confidently expected.

President McKinley, in his message to congress will set the ball in motion by presenting as strongly as possible the arguments for annexation. He will show that the treaty has already been ratified by the Hawaiian senate, and that only the action of the senate of the United States is required to add the islands to our territory.

The president does not expect annexation to result in complications with any foreign power. While satisfied, however, that Japan will not openly interpose any objections if the senate acts promptly, administration officials think it not unlikely that Japan will secretly try to do all she can to delay, if not to defeat, ratification. Any lobbying by Japan, though, will tend to expedite rather than to delay action by the senate.

The most potent opposition will come from the Claus Spreckels and sugar trust influence. Pacific coast influence is divided, and while most of the senators from that section are in favor of the treaty, Senator White of California is expected to lead the opposition to it on the floor.

SAYS MURRAY IS DEAD.

Defendant in the Iowa Murder Case Clears an Important Point.

Vinton, Iowa, Nov. 12.—A. J. Murray, one of the witnesses in the Novak murder trial, Thursday testified that he went to the Benton county jail Sept. 8 in company with William Murray, the father of the man Novak is charged with murdering and cremating. The aged man talked with Novak, saying he was likely to die at any time, and was desirous of knowing if his son were really dead. Novak said he was. This admission is deemed of importance, as it establishes the identity of the body found in the ruins. This fact was further strengthened by the testimony of Mrs. Shea, a sister of Murray, who identified the shirt taken from the body as that of her brother. She also identified a cord taken from the neck of the victim as belonging to her brother.

Victory for the Synod.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 12.—After being in session all day and until a late hour Thursday night the special committee appointed by the last general assembly of the Presbyterian church to reform and harmonize the methods of giving to home missions agreed on a declaration of principles and unanimously adopted resolutions embodying its views. The struggle that was fought out during the day was whether or not the growing demand among state synods and presbyteries that they be allowed to manage their own affairs without the aid of the home board of missions and the national board should be indorsed, such indorsement meaning a granting of practical autonomy to each presbytery. This sentiment prevailed unanimously.

The road along which they drove crosses the railway track on the level, and the driver, either through carelessness or ignorance of the train schedule, drove his swiftly moving horses upon the crossing just as the express was coming up. The locomotive struck the vehicle squarely, killing many members of the party outright and maiming others so that they soon expired in frightful agony. Not a member of the party escaped.

PROF. SHIELDS OUT OF PRINCETON

GIVES UP HIS CHAIR AT THE UNIVERSITY.

The Only Course Possible—At His Own Request the Professor Who Voted For a Liquor License For Princeton Inn Is Dropped From the University Rolls.

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 12.—For signing his name to the liquor license petition for Princeton Inn, the establishment owned by an alumnus of the university, Prof. Charles W. Shields, D. D., LL. D., of the faculty, was Thursday at his own request blotted from the rolls of the Presbyterian church by the prebytery of New Brunswick. President Patton voted for dismissal. There was not a dissenting voice.

After ushering Prof. Shields out the presbytery went on record reaffirming old declarations from general assemblies of the Presbyterian church making it "reprehensible complicity" to sign petitions for the sale of liquors. Ten members of the body voted against this step. President Patton was among them. His sullen and emphatic "No" indicated that he thought it was time to stop with accepting the resignation of his fellow educator.

No other result was possible in this widely advertised case from the time that the Presbyterian clergy united in their denunciations of Prof. Shields' course.

TO BUILD NEW WARSHIPS.

Spain Will Have Two 2,000-Ton Cruisers—Wants a New Loan.

London, Nov. 12.—The Madrid correspondent of the Daily Mail says:

"Finding it impossible to raise the sum of £5,000,000 by loan or tax to carry out its original naval plan, the government has decided to build two new cruisers only. They will be of 2,000 tons each. It is intended to summon the cortez as soon as possible in order to obtain credits to build more men of war and to place more powerful guns in the existing vessels. The Spanish naval authorities regard the Spanish navy as already superior to the American navy."

The organ of Senor Sagasta, El Correo, says it is "convinced that the Carlists are only waiting for complications in Cuba to provide them an opportunity for rising."

TO SETTLE DISPUTE BY AN AGREEMENT

ILLINOIS MINERS MAKE AN APPEAL FOR ARBITRATION

Operators May Refuse—Convention at Streator Puts Itself on Record—Peaceable Means to Be Used to Get Working Miners to Leave the Shafts

Streator, Ill., Nov. 12.—President Ratchford of the United Mine Workers' association, President Hunter, Vice President Russell, and Secretary Ryan of the Illinois State Miners' association are still in Streator using every effort to bring about a settlement between the operators and strikers. The outlook, however, is not altogether encouraging. Up to the present time the operators have steadfastly resisted any overtures to enter into contracts upon the gross-weight system for mining coal, while the miners of the Northern Illinois fields ,who are in representative session here, as persistently demand that that system shall be one of the conditions of settlement.

During the proceedings of the convention Wednesday President Ratchford asked the appointment of a committee of the delegates, that a general investigation of difficulties might be reached and to attempt a settlement by some means. This comittee reported at the meeting Thursday in favor of submitting the whole matter of wages to a board of arbitration, said board to be composed of members wholly outside of the regular state board of arbitration, the miners to select one member of said board, the operators one, and these two the third member.

One condition will be imposed on the arbitrators in their consideration, and that is that the law in regard to gross weight must be upheld.

Some of the delegates opposed the plan of arbitration and insisted that the fight be continued with renewed force in the demand for the Springfield scale, but the friends of arbitration finally succeeded in adopting the report.

It was also decided that peaceable means be adopted to get the men out who have already gone to work, and have them await the decision of the arbitration committee.

Philadelphia, Nov. 12.—The general missionary committee of the extension of the Methodist Episcopal church resumed its session Thursday morning. It was decided to make the division of the missionary fund on the basis of 45 per cent to home missions and 55 per cent to foreign missions.

Wants Two Places for Women.

Oshkosh, Wis., Nov. 12.—One of the most important suggestions made at the convention of Wisconsin women's clubs is that of Mrs. L. L. Graves of Milwaukee, chairman of the federation's board of education. She thinks that the state board of control, which now consists of five men, should be enlarged by the addition of two women at a salary of $2,000 per annum. The choosing of a place for the next meeting was referred to the official board, which will meet in December. Stevens Point, Eau Claire, La Crosse and Madison are aspirants.

DENVER ON GUARD.

Precautions Against a Rumored Plan for Vengeance on Sanchez.

Denver, Col., Nov. 12.—The sheriff received word Thursday afternoon that an attempt would be made to enter the county jail and lynch Fred C. Sanchez, charged with murdering his young wife for insurance money. The police were notified and Chief Farley summoned every patrolman in the city to report at headquarters at 8 o'clock.

In the meantime, to render futile all assaults on the jail, the prisoner was not returned to his cell at the conclusion of the day's trial, but was smuggled away to the residence of one of the court officers, where he was kept all night under a strong guard.

At the jail the warden maintained a vigilant watch, with every deputy who could be called into requisition armed to the teeth. Upon orders from the governor, the Denver City Troop also reported at its armory fully equipped for active service. The members were sent out as scouts to patrol the territory contiguous to the jail, with instructions instantly to signal upon the appearance of any gathering.

Up to midnight there was no evidence of any attacking force, but the police were held at headquarters prepared for any emergency. Sheriff Webb declares his authority for the intended attack was of the best, but his precautions have probably been effective.

MUST CALL NEW JURY.

Trial of Martin Thorn Stops—Howe Is Still Confident.

New York, Nov. 12.—The trial of Martin Thorn for the murder of William Guldensuppe, which was begun last Monday at Long Island City, was suspended Thursday owing to the dangerous illness of Juror Magnus Larsen. The jury was discharged, and a new trial ordered.

Mr. Howe has not given up hope of saving his client. He emphatically reiterates his claim that Thorn will tell the truth and that the jury will believe him. "He has been too chivalrous for his own good," the lawyer declared. "Now that Mrs. Nack has proved her treachery, his eyes have been opened, and he will do nothing more to shield her. She killed Guldensuppe, and she must bear the consequences of her act."

Richest Yet to Be Found.

Toronto, Nov. 12.—William Ogilvie, surveyor of the department of the interior, who left Ottawa for the Yukon country June 19, 1895, and is now returning, reports that there are one hundred claims on Bonanza Creek capable of yielding from $250,000 to $500,000 and thirty claims on El Dorado Creek that will no doubt yield an average of $1,000,000 each. These two creeks, he says, form but a small percentage of the rich placers already discovered. The other streams in the vicinity, though not quite so rich, will rate very high compared with anything ever found in the country before. The gold-bearing area extends up the Yukon from the American boundary at least 400 miles, and is in some places 100 miles wide. Over all this area good indications have been found, so it is safe to assert that the greatest wealth, if not the richest individual deposit, is yet to be discovered.

SCHOOLS UNDER DISCUSSION IN NEW YORK.

League For the Promotion of American Institutions Adopts Sweeping Resolutions—Sixteenth Amendment to Constitution Is Demanded By 40,000,000.

New York, Nov. 12.—The annual convention of the National League for the Protection of American Institutions has opened headquarters on Madison avenue, the national president, William H. Parsons, presiding. The organization was brought into existence eight years ago for the purpose of securing constitutional and legislative safeguards for the protection of the common school system and other American institutions, to promote public instruction in harmony with such institutions and to prevent all sectarian or denominational appropriations of public funds. The annual report of the general secretary, James M. King, shows that the league has received considerable encouragement in its work. There are now over twenty-five states that have adopted amendments to their constitutions prohibiting a division of the common school fund and sectarian appropriations. The league has also been successful in securing a strong public sentiment in favor of a proposed sixteenth amendment to the constitution of the United States which provides that "neither congress nor any state shall pass any law respecting the establishment of a religion or prohibiting the free exercise thereof, or use the property or credit of the United States, or of any state, or any money raised by taxation, or authorize any to be used, for the purpose of founding, maintaining or aiding, by appropriation, payment for services, expenses or otherwise, any church, religious denomination, or religious society, or any institution, society or undertaking which is wholly or in part under sectarian or ecclesiastical control." This proposed amendment has received the indorsement of patriotic orders representing over 4,000,000 voters, and also that of the Methodist, Baptist, Presbyterian, Congregationalists, Quakers, and other religious societies of the country, expressed through their general councils or other delegate meetings.

NEWS TALES OF TWO COUNTIES TOLD IN A FEW SHORT PARAGRAPHS

A WEEK'S EVENTS IN GOOD OLD WALWORTH.

Cruel Rumor Concerning Mr. Saxton Emphatically Denied—Bundy to Be Examined On December 6—Sympathy For His Family—Fire In North Walworth.

Darien, Nov. 12—The reported confession of Landlord Saxton of Darien, who was shot by Joseph Bundy, was found to be without foundation. The rumor was that he was connected with the Howe murder. Stranger than the murder, even how such a report could have started. We heard of it soon after Dr. Marks' visit to Mr. Saxton, which was the same day that he was shot. Then it was only that, if he could not live, he wished to know it, as he had something to say before death. From this grew the report. He did not say even that, but the report grew in the mind of some busybody, and it went in all its hideousness from gossip to gossip, till people began to wonder if it were not so. And there never was a word of truth in it, from beginning to end. It was simply a little lie at first, and then added to, till the report had to be cut off by denial. It was strange how it started, and meaner than strange to circulate it, or give credence to it in any way. The Darien Dispatch prints the above denials from the Lake Geneva News and the Elkhorn Independent, and adds its own, closing with the statement that the originator of the story ought to be tarred and feathered.

His examination has been set for December 6, by which time it can be ascertained beyond all doubt what Mr. Saxton's condition will be, and his ultimate chances for recovery. He is now getting on so nicely that there seems to be no danger of a change for the worse Mr. Bundy has a host of warm friends in the vicinity of Darien and Emerald Grove, who sincerely hope that the court will be very lenient with him. The sympathy of all is extended to the wife and relatives in their hours of trouble and anxiety.

RECEIVER TOWNE'S REPORT

Edgerton Bank Depositors Will Be Heavy Losers---The Figures.

Receiver L. H. Towne for the Bank of Edgerton which closed its doors Oct. 19, has his report ready to file with the court. The total liabilities of the bank are $335,000 and nominal assets $242,000. A vast amount of questionable paper is listed in the assets. Possibly one-half of the loans and discounts are uncollectable. After the statutory liability of the stockholders is exhausted the deposits can scarcely expect a dividend greater than 50 per cent. A new bank has been organized here to supplant the business of the broken institution having a strong financial backing. It will be located in the quarters formerly occupied by The Bank of Edgerton.

The building has already been purchased for that purpose. The capital stock of the new concern will be $35,000, but this amount will be increased later on. It is said that the promoters of the new bank are men of means and that the stock will be fully paid up. At a meeting of the business men of Edgerton held last evenidg it was decided to carry out the organization. A committee to perfect the arrangements was appointed, consisting of H. W. Child, Andrew Jenson and W. S. Heddles. Receiver Towne gives the following figures:

CITY BIRDS BARRED FROM COUNTY CAGE

MUNICIPAL OFFENDERS CAN'T LIVE IN JAIL.

Supervisors Will Compel the Building Of a Lockup Before August 1—The Plan For Repairing of Old Structure—Post Mortem Fee Reduced—Other Work Done.

The county board finished its business and adjourned yesterday. Considerable important business was transacted before adjournment. Post mortems will hereafter be paid for at the rate of $15 each. Notice was ordered served on the city, to provide jail facilities for city prisoners before August 1, which means that the city must furnish a lockup. The jail matter was discussed at length.

Supervisor Bruhm introduced a resolution providing that in case of post mortem examination for the county in no case more than $15 be allowed to one doctor. Adopted.

Supervisor Kendall introduced a resolution that inasmuch as the county jail is at the present time occupied by the city of Janesville as a city jail jointly with the county which jointly company by the city with the county causes the county jail to be constantly kept in a filthy and disorderly condition; therefore resolved that the committee on public buildings shall give notice to said city of Janesville that they must provide other quarters for their prisoners after August 1, 1898. Adopted

Supervisor Wilder from the committee on claims, made a report, which was adopted.

Supervisor Bailey introduced R. G. Kirch, of the firm of Kirch Bros., of Milwaukee, jail architects, who submitted a set of plans for a new jail, also a proposition to remodel the old jail for $10,746 with twenty cells, half of which were to be iron and half steel, or $11,746 all steel.

Plan For Repairs.

Mr. Lewis, of St. Louis, who examined the present jail, spoke on repairing the old jail. He said if the walls were good it would make a good jail for fifteen or twenty years to come. Mr. Lewis said that the board had a good man in Supt. Edward Ratheram. He was a good, practical man and could inform the board on that matter. Mr. Lewis said the walls were weather beaten and how much repairing would be needed he could not tell. He would make a thorough fire proof building with twenty seven cells. He thought the entrance to the jail should be made through the jailer's office and not through the residence of the building He thought if the walls of the old jail are good a good jail could be made from the old one at a cost of about $12,000.

Sup. Wilder moved that the old jail be repaired at a cost not to exceed $12,000. The motion was withdrawn later.

Sup. Eager moved that the matter be postponed until the January meeting. Lost by a vote of 17 to 16.

Sup. Bear moved that a new jail be built at a cost not to exceed $25,000.

Sup. Allen's Talk.

Sup. Allen said that the county was already largely in debt. The old jail has done good service. For the past fourteen years no prisoner had died there from disease contracted in the jail. Every sheriff was the picture of health. It was a good place to go for the health and many were willing to go for the paltry salary of $1500 a year. The building was out of style, but many people live in old style houses. Prisoners did not have to go there if they behaved themselves. It was a little too expensive. The board should take time to think it over.

Sup. Wilder said he presumed the board would build a new jail. He had hoped to prolong it. The state tax was $29,000 more this year than last. He would like to tide the matter over this year.

Sup. Bowles stated that if the country members of the board were as careful about other expenditures the city of Janesville would not be compelled to build a lock-up.

Sup. Bear's Idea.

Sup. Bear said he was not trying to force a new jail on the county, but between spending $12,000 for repairing the old jail or $25,000 for a new one, he would take the new one.

Sup. Coxhead was in favor of having the state board of health report on the sanitary condition of the jail

Supt. Bruhm said the people about Edgerton felt poor since the bank failure and would not favor a new jail.

Sup. Barker said all were in favor of staving off the building of a new jail. He felt as poor as anybody. Had the board got to do something? If so, why not build a new jail?

Sup. Kendall said he was not apt to spend any money. From the report on the walls the board would expend $12 000 and still have an old building. This was not good economy for a county that called itself poor. He understood that it would not require $25,000 to build a new jail. It could be built for $20,000 or $22,000.

Sup. Bear's motion was lost by a vote of 27 to 8.

Write State Board.

On motion of Supervisor Wilder the clerk was instructed to invite the state board of health to examine our jail as to its sanitary condition, and report at the January meeting.

Supervisor Eager, from the committee on tax certificates and illegal taxes, reported in favor of charging back to the city of Edgerton $14 45, being a

Greenland the Fatherland of the Mosquito

M. Francois Du Barri, an adventurous French hunter who has just returned from a shooting trip in Greenland, says that he believes he has made a singular discovery, nameley that this land of ice and snow is the fatherland of the mosquito, so numerous there are these winged pests. They are more harrassing than the home product of New Jersey, but not so much so as the nervous complaints that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters will promptly relieve. Through the instrumentality of digestion and assimilation improved by the Bitters, the nerves, no less than other portions of the human mechanism, acquire vigor and steadiness. The medicine also cures and prevents rheumatism, indigestion malaria, kidney complaint and constipation, and builds up depleted physical energy. It imparts zest for the food and promotes nightly slumber. It is beneficial to the old, the young and the middle-aged, persons of robust constitution and those in delicate health. Convalescence proceeds without tardiness when it is used.

SIMPLICITY ITSELF,

A SIMPLE HARMLESS REMEDY

Yet It Cures the Worst Cases of Dyspepsia and Indigestion.

Dr. Jennison, who has made a life study of stomach troubles, says: All forms of indigestion really amount to the same thing, that is, failure to completely digest the food eaten; no matter whether the trouble is acid dyspepsia or sour stomach, belching of wind, nervous Dyspepsia or loss of flesh and appetite; a person will not have any of them if the stomach can be induced by any natural, harmless way to thoroughly digest what is eaten, and this can be done by a simple remedy which I have tested in hundreds of aggravated cases with complete success. The remedy is a combination of fruit and vegetable essences, pure aseptic pepsin and golden seal put up in the form of pleasant tasting tablets and sold by druggists under the name of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. One or two of these tablets should be taken after meals and allowed to dissolve in the mouth and mingling with the food in the stomach digests it completely before it has time to ferment, decay and sour.

On actual experiment one grain of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will digest three thousand grains of meat, eggs and similar wholesome foods,

It is safe to say if this wholesome remedy was better known, by people generally, it would be a national blessing, as we are a nation of dyspeptics and nine-tenths of all diseases owe their origin to imperfect digestion and nutrition

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are not a secret patent medicine, but a fifty cent package will do more real good for a weak stomach than fifty dollars worth of patent medicines add a person has the satisfaction of knowing just what he is putting into his stomach, which he does not know, when widely advertised patent medicines are used.

All druggists sell Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, full sized packages 50cts.

LITTLE TRADE IN LEAF NOW

Janesville Market Has Gone Back To Old Rut Again.

The Leaf says the Janesville market seems to have dropped back in the old rut of inactivity and tardy pace that characterized it some moons ago Only two transactions have come to our notice, that of 240 cases of old goods sold by L. B. Carle to a local dealer and 125 cases sold by Fisher & Fisher.

The following transactions in '97 have come to our notice:

Burr Hayner, 3 acres, 7—1c
Richard Finley, 4 acres, 7—7½c.
James Finley, 10 acres, 7—1¼c.
Patrick Smith, 3 acres, 6¾—1c.
Peter Cassidy, 5 acres, 6—1½c

The above are recent purchases of an Ohio dealer.

Seven carloads of tobacco were shipped from this market during the week.

We have had several days of rainy weather recently, but not enough to bring the hanging crop into case sufficient to permit of making examination.

SHE DON'T KNOW FLORENCE

Marie Jansen Says She Never Heard of Miss Wickes.

In spite of the fact that Marie Jansen plays the leading part in "The Nancy Hanks" company in which play Florence Lillian Wickes scored her first stage triumphs, the dashing actress declared last evening, that she never even heard of an actress by the name of Lillian Wickes.

"To the best of my knowledge," said Miss Jansen, "I never met such a person, and do not know anyone of that name. Perhaps my manager may know who she is, but I do not."

Such is fame!

The performance at the Myers Grand last evening, gave entire satisfaction It was a much better production than was presented when it was last seen here. Miss Jansen is a particularly vivacious actress, and sang sweetly. The support given her was excellent. The play is amusing, and the audience—a small one—was thoroughly pleased.

THEY VIOLATE INSURANCE LAW

Two Outside Companies Must Appear Before Commissioner Fricke.

Two insurance companies doing business in the state have been cited by Insurance Commissioner Fricke to appear November 23 and show cause why their licenses should not be revoked. One is the National Standard, a fire insurance company of New York, which is charged with violation of the resident agent law. The other is the North American Accident association of Chicago. The commissioner cites this company for the reason that, being an assessment accident association, in which all members are liable for their proportionate share of losses that may occur, the association is offering and granting insurance to members of the defunct Star Accident company and relieving the policy holders of such association from assessments and dues, and carrying their insurance without cost to January 15, 1898 This the commissioner says, is compelling the other policy holders in the association not only to pay their own indemnity, but also to pay claims which may arrise under the policies so written, for whion the association receives no consideration and the holders of which are not contributors to the fund for payment of losses.

The New Lake Shore Limited.

It is believed that perfection in car construction has been reached in the equipment of this train. The New York sleeper, for example, is composed of ten sections and two staterooms. Two of the sections at each end of the car are seperated by partitions, thereby making them almost as exclusive as staterooms. One of the staterooms in this car is upholstered in red silk tapestry with draperies, carpet, etc., to harmonize. The other stateroom is upholsted in light green tapestry, with green draperies, etc to correspond. The staterooms have the usual annexes and accomodations. The car has also an elegantly combined smoking and washroom. It is very richly inlaid, upholstered in plain olive-green plush, and draped with rich silk draperies. One particular beautiful feature of this room, as also of the ladies' toilet room, are mirrors over the wash stand. The inlaid work is of very exquisite design, and the frame work is supported by turned columns, brass caps and bases, the columns being inlaid with running vines The car is built entirely of mahogany finished with inlaid work and mosaic lines. It is remarkable for its plain, natural effect, there being no mouldings, and entirely plain services are seen in all directions. The doors are of solid wood, broken with inlaid lines and mosaic work. The ceilings are dome shape, the high lights being ornamented with gold. The upholstering of the body of the car is an olive green special pattern. The general style of decoration is known as the Coolidge inlaid design.

A Puzzler.

Toppin—I don't know what to think of Dr. Pestle. Either he is a confounded charlatan or he has the curiousest ways of getting at things.

Nipper—For instance?

Toppin—I had him call to see my wife yesterday. He looked at her tongue and then said she was in an extremely debilitated state. No doubt she is, but how in time did he find it out by looking at her tongue, is what beats me.—Boston Transcript.

Consolation.

Miss De Fine—I hope the report that your daughter and her husband do not get along well together is untrue.

Mrs. De Shine—It is true. The trouble is that he is jealous of her. The fool! He might know there is no cause for jealousy.

Miss De Fine (thinking of the girl's plainness)—Indeed he might; but love is blind, you know.—N. Y. Weekly.

Patience Rewarded.

His first love's age was just twenty-five,
When at twenty in marriage he sought her;
He failed; but again at forty did strive,
And this time he married her daughter.
—Chicago News.

THE WHY AND WHEREFORE.

First Maid—Well, there's one consolation; beauty is only skin deep.

Second Maid—Yes, that's why so many girls use rough towels, trying to find it.—St. Louis Republic.

Irresponsible.

Oh, man! let woman not your proud soul vex.
Give kindly pity to the weaker sex,
And never let your mind to wrath incline—
To err is woman, to forgive divine.
—Judge.

Not Available.

"Here is a letter it would hardly do for us to publish," said a quack. A man writes: 'I have just taken the first bottle of your medicine—'"

"Well?" said his partner.

"There it breaks off short, and is signed in another handwriting: 'Per executor.'"—Tit-Bits.

He Took More.

"Only one!" he pleaded.

She looked at him in surprise.

"One little kiss," he persisted.

"Oh, all right," she replied, carelessly. "If you're fool enough to start the press for a single impression, go ahead, but it doesn't seem to me it pays."—Chicago Post.

Great Neglect.

A regular rattlesnake obituary comes to us from Stewart county:

This grave we make
For little Andy;
Bit by a snake—
No whisky handy.
—Atlanta Constitution.

Needs a Stronger Man.

Mr. Piper—De Blank is so lazy he has to hire a valet to smoke for him.

Mrs. Piper—I shouldn't think he'd have to pay a man for doing that.

Mr. Piper—But he smokes cigarettes, you see.—Detroit Free Press.

Ought to Have a Big Sale.

"What makes you think your new hairpins will have a big sale?"

"Why, man, they're made strong enough to lift the largest pickle that can be gotten in a boarding-school."—Judge.

A Lover's Admiration.

"Those are bride and groom over on that other car seat."

"You needn't think so just because they both have on new clothes."

"No; but I heard him tell her she looked pretty enough to be put under a glass shade."—Detroit Free Press.

Breaking the News.

Patient (bad pay)—What is my condition, doctor?

Physician—My friend, my advice to you is to pay all your debts and prepare for the end.—Philadelphia North American.

Now They Don't Speak.

Ethel—How perfectly absurd!

Maud (elated)—Frankly, now, how old do you think I look?

Ethel—About forty.—Up-to-Date.

That's a fact we cannot hide;

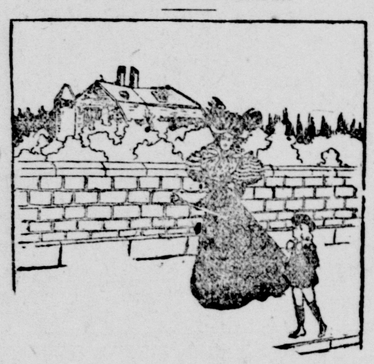
A DEEP THINKER.



Tommy—If Uncle Bob shaves his face will hair grow on it?

Mother—Yes.

Tommy—Then why doesn't he shave his head?—N. Y. Herald.

Richness.

Her worthy spouse implores,
To brush the gold dust from his boots
Before he comes indoors.

Good Printing...

Is like good painting—it demands and obtains a second glance. The second glance leads to thought about and knowledge of the thing portrayed, and then on to the artist or advertiser.

The kind of printing as well as the kind of painting that it pays to do and to have done is that which obtains this "second glance." Plenty of the other kind!

We are PRINTERS. Our work obtains glances of admiration, and thus leads on to the end desired. We don't do the "other kind." Put our job room to the test.

USED TICKET GAME TO ROB FARMERS

BRONSON AND LANE CHARGED WITH SWINDLING.

They Are Said to Have Called a Stranger Into a Corner and Invited Him to Test His Luck On An Envelope Scheme—Their Examination Held Today.

George Bronson and John Lane, who have been in jail here, charged with working a lottery scheme in Beloit, were taken to the Line City this morning, by Marshal Appleby, for a hearing. Both men say that they will prove that they are not so tough as some people would like to have the public believe.

It is alleged that Bronson and Lane, claiming to represent a Chicago clothing house, tried to work a confidence game on a couple of farmers. One of them met a farmer on the street, stating that he would like to sell him a suit of clothes, and on the farmer's statement that he did not wish to buy any, the stranger said he would make him a present of a suit if he would accompany him to the hotel to look over his goods. When they reached the room, another stranger stepped in, and No. 1 evinced delight at bis being present, saying he would give each a suit of clothes. He then produced a box filled with envelopes, saying that all his suits were numbered his method to dispose of them was to have the customers draw an envelope and the number drawn was to take the suit bearing the corresponding number. After some hesitation, the two men drew envelopes, each getting a blank. The "con" man then drew an envelope that contained the number 11, and showed the other what a beautiful suit he would get. Placing the envelope partly down in the box, he stepped to the door and locked it, whereupon the farmer remonstrated. But he was told that the "agent" was a responsible man, representing a responsible house and was urged to draw again. The agent flushed a big roll of bills to show that he was all right but the farmer had become frightened and forced them to let him out of the way. He reported the affair to Marshal Appleby who, with Officer Sceibol soon had the two strangers behind the bars When searched the men were found to have considerable money, but the big roll was mostly "advertising greenbacks" or good imitations of legitimate bank bills, with one or two good bills wrapped around the outside. Their scheme was undoubtedly to have the farmer draw a winning number, then induce him to make a small payment for it and in making change to give him the bogus bill. But he did not "bite" While he was complaining to the officers another farmer came up with the same tale of woe to unfold.

BREWER NOT IN SHAPE

Will Go On Field Saturday Only If Absolutely Necessary.

Chester Brewer writes home that he will not play foot ball with the state university team at Chicago tomorrow unless it is absolutely necessary. Brewer, who played such a star game at right end last year, gave out after the Minneapolis game. Prospects brightened, but those hopes have been dashed to pieces. It is not likely that he will be out again, Early in the Beloit game he had a tendon on the inside of his right knee dislocated. It is extremely painful and has stiffened the joint.

TWO WHITELIGHTERS JAILED

Chief Hogan who made the arrest says that he found both men limp and helpless. It has been a long time since any two members of the Whitelight club got drunk without giving the rest of the club a show, and there is strong talk of expelling Nash and Griffin from the club.

The plaintiffs William Kennedy and Frank Handtke were examined by the attorneys for the railroad company as adverse parties.

As will be remembered, Handtke sues the railroad company for $3000 damages and Kennedy $5000.

They were driving home from town to their homes in the town of Porter. At the point where they crossed the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul tracks there are three tracks. They claim that freight cars stood so near the crossing on one of the tracks that it was impossible to see the train approaching.

In his testimony today, Kennedy declared that they stopped and listened before crossing the track but heard no bell or whistle and that their horses were on the tracks before they had any warning of the train.

Handtke made substantially the same statement, declaring also that a curve in the track made it harder to see trains approaching.

Kennedy had his collar bone broken and his leg injured by the accident while Handtke was hurt internally.

The railroad company insist that all due precautions were taken at the crossing and that the accident resulted from the negligence of the plaintiffs. Sutherland & Nolan and G. H. Metcalf appear for the plaintiffs and Jackson & Jackson and H. H. Field of Milwaukee appear for the defendant.

Mark Twain's Recipe.

The Way they Make Coffee in Europe.

"Take a barrel of water and bring it to a boil, rub a chiccory berry against a coffee berry, then convey the former into the water.

Insert the remains of an old cow in a hydraulic press and when you shall have acquired a teaspoonful of that pale blue juice which an old superstition regards as milk, modify the malignity of its strength in a bucket of tepid water and ring up the breakfast. Mix the beverage in a cold cup, partake with moderation and keep a wet rag around your head to guard against over-excitement." This method of preparation and serving is a fair example of the manner in which Postum Cereal Food Coffee, regular coffee, tea and other beverage are treated in too many cases. No good thing can be obtained without the expenditure of some skill and time. A delicious and highly nourishing drink can be had from Postum if boiled full 15 minutes after boiling commences. It is rich in the phosphates and gluten, and its use in place of coffee for 10 days, will, in many cases, relieve stomach, bowel, and nervous troubles. It is worth trial by any one with any sort of functional trouble for the curious complex manner in which a disordered nervous system works, is liable to produce trouble in any organ of the body and a relief from the (unexpected) cause will produce relief in the disorder. Postum at breakfast, lunch and dinner, in place of coffee may solve the problem. It is worth a trial.

BALKED ON TRACKS AND CAR HIT HIM

JOHN JOHNISH'S HORSE NEARLY KILLED OWNER.

He Stopped on the Street Car Tracks to Think About the Oat Prospects—The Moment Was Unpropitious and a Smash-Up Was the Result.

A balky horse came near causing the death of John Johnish this noon.

Johnish was crossing the Milwaukee street bridge, and turned across the street car tracks to get around a load of hay. It was unfortunate for him that just as his wagon stood across the tracks his horse decided to quit work until after dinner. It lacked fifteen minutes of being 12 o'clock, but the horse was presumably going on sun time, and had missed his reckoning.

Just as he planted himself firmly the Main street car came boiling along. It was late on the trip to the depot, and was due at Main street on the return trip in a few minutes It struck Johnish's wagon amidships, and pieces of the quarter deck flew in every direction. The horse forgot what he was thinking about. It has been a long time since he had as much experience with rapid transit as came in ten seconds after the car struck the wagon.

It was a very sedate horse that Mr. Johnish brought from the farm this morning. It was a high headed buck-jumper that the bystanders had to hold for a few minutes after the collision.

Mr. Johnish was bruised and shocked by the collision but escaped serious injury. He was about sixty years old and lives a mile from the city in the town of Rock.

WIDDY M'GREW.

Sat o'er the sands where the waves ripple gayly
A vision with eyes of the tinderest blue
Trips merrily into the glad water daily.
The pearl of the sea is sweet Widdy McGrew.
Her glance is so kind, her smile is so winning,
So graceful her figure, her laughter so true,
That all I can hear is me heart wildly dinning,
"I love ye, I love ye, sweet Widdy McGrew!"

Last night we were strolling the wide beach together
Alone in the moonlight, her hand on me arm,
Whin sudden she halted and asked of me whether
I heard drums a-beating or fire bells' alarm?
Me heart stopped a moment, me tongue grew unruly.
I said: "I hear guns, bells and drums beating, too,
But it's all in me heart, and the raison is truly
I love ye, I love ye, sweet Widdy McGrew!"

The sacret was out, and I stood there a-trembling.
In dreadful suspinse for an age did I stand.
She gazed on the ground, either shy or dissembling,
And scraped with her shoe a deep hole in the sand.
"Me grave she is digging," despairful I muttered,
"And sure I shall fill it, for dead soon I'll be."
Whin she gave me a look and thin timidly uttered,
"You'll hear all that din whin the b'ys shivaree."

* * * * * * *

Sweet Widdy McGrew, your smile is so winning,
Your eyes are so tinder, your laughter so true,
Me heart day and night will foriver be dinning,
"I love ye, I love ye"—not Widdy McGrew.

THE ISLAND CAVE.

In the morning watch on board the bark Pawnee, bound from Colombo, Ceylon, to the cape of Good Hope, we were washing down the decks on the 30th day of October, 1866, when a man who had been sent aloft to examine a sail which had been damaged in a squall during the previous night shouted down to the mate that he could see a man on a raft about a mile away and almost directly in our course. We were then midway between Ceylon and the Chagos islands, with sea room for 500 miles in every direction.

The announcement of the man on the raft did not produce much excitement. Natives are frequently blown off the islands on rafts and catamarans from which they have been fishing, and we believed this is to be such a case. We were up with him in a few minutes and great was our surprise to find him a white man and a sailor. The raft was a rude but stout affair, which he had made from driftwood, and it carried a cargo as well as the man. Securely lashed to the planks and timbers were four large elephant tusks and an earthen jar, together with two other jars containing food and water. The raft had no sail, but was managed to a certain extent by a rude steering oar. The castaway took things coolly and was neither overgrateful nor greatly surprised at being picked up. He saw to it that his cargo was safely aboard before he climbed over the rail and he answered no questions until he was alone with the captain in the cabin. Then he told a story which reached us two or three hours later.

The name of the rescued sailor was William Scott. He was second mate of a Ceylon schooner called the Happy Day. Three months before we found him the schooner set out from some port on the India coast for Batavia, but encountered a typhoon and was blown a long distance to the west and finally wrecked on a coral reef surrounding an island. Of the crew of eight men Scott alone escaped. He was carried a mile or more by the waves and cast upon the beach and he was so bruised and battered that he could not stand upright for three or four days. He believed this island to be one of the easternmost of the Chagos, and yet when he came to overhaul the chart and read the descriptions of the group he could not place it among them. It was an island about a mile in circumference, rocky and barren, but having plenty of fresh water on it. As for animal life, there was not even a lizard to be seen, and but for the ravines and caves the man would have been roasted alive by the hot sun. There were shellfish in plenty, and he caught many fish left in ponds as the tide receded, but he had no fire. Scott lived on the barren rock for 14 long weeks without once sighting a sail, and but for his own individual efforts the time might have been indefinitely prolonged. One day a lot of wreckage from some unfortunate native craft drove ashore, and he secured planks and timbers and set about building a raft. He had made up his mind to put to sea and take the chance of being picked up.

The castaway had explored his island several times, but as the ground was much cut up and difficult to get over he had not examined it closely. Entering the island from the south side was a narrow bay, being not over 20 feet wide, though very deep. This bay came near cutting the island in two, as it ran within 100 feet of the north end. It was in the still waters of the bay that Scott constructed his raft, and only when it was finished that he made a strange discovery. He poled it along one day to the head of the bay, and as he reached the end he saw the mouth of a cave 15 feet above him on the right. It seemed to him that men had used tools to widen the mouth and to smooth the way up to it from the water, and his curiosity was aroused. He found the mouth of the cave large enough to admit a hogshead, and there was every reason to believe that it had once been blocked up with stones squared for the purpose and cemented in. These stones had been shaken loose by some great jar and had rolled down into the bay. The cave was 30 feet long by 20 wide and 10 feet high, dry and airy, and a far better house than Robinson Crusoe had. Now comes the astonishing part of the story. According to Scott, he found 210 elephant tusks stacked up in the cave, together with five jars of gold dust. On leaving the island on his raft the sailor secured four of the tusks to his raft and also one of the jars of gold dust. Two other jars were emptied of their contents that he might use the jars for food and water.

Had the raft been without cargo the man's story would have been laughed at and ridiculed. He said he had found gold and ivory—a great fortune. He had the ivory and the gold to prove his assertions. It made no difference that he could not identify the island—that the chart did not place it. It was a queer story, but with the proofs at hand to back it what could [illegible]. Our captain was a Scotchman, and it took a whole day to think it over and assure himself that [illegible] before him was actually gold [illegible]. Then he made Scott a proposition. The sailor knew the worth of what [illegible] secured—knew that he was [illegible] life, and having knocked about on a raft for nine days before we [illegible] him he was not at all anxious about what he had left behind in the bay. Our captain was, however, and [illegible] every man of the crew. The matter was talked over, and it was finally agreed that Scott should pilot a [illegible] and take another jar of gold dust for his share. He would then be landed at Batavia to go where he pleased. The rest of the treasure was to be recovered for the owners of the bark, but we were told that they would be liberal with all.

It was a hard bargain the Scotchman drove with the rescued sailor, but Scott fell in with the idea and the course of the ship was changed. We were 200 miles to the south of the Chagos, having passed them 50 miles to the east, and as the wind was from the north we had to beat back. This was slow work, and we had not yet made half the distance when we got a gale from the west which sent us driving away toward the Javanese coast until we were almost in sight of it. We had then to recover our lost ground, but what with the loss of two topmasts and several sails in a squall and a continuation of bad weather it was 16 days before a man was sent to the masthead to look for land.

The Chagos archipelago consists of a score of islands, banks and reefs. Scott believed that his island was the easternmost one of all, but as he could not be sure of it we had to examine all. Running between them and around them was slow work, and we had to feel our way, and it was six or seven days before we reached the last. We had found no such island as described by the sailor, and in our disappointment and chagrin he came in for plenty of abuse. He retaliated by pointing to his treasure. If there were no island, no cave and no treasure, how did he come by the ivory and gold dust? It was a convincing argument, and our captain decided to bear away to the east and search at haphazard. At the close of the fourth day, sailing back and forth across a sea supposed to contain no land for hundreds of miles in every direction but the west, we sighted Scott's island. Our man identified it as soon as it could be seen from the deck, and we ran in and came to anchor for the night within a mile from the beach. Had the night not been so dark I believe the captain would have had a boat down, but as it was he dared not chance it. Such was the excitement aboard that no man slept for an hour, and as soon as daylight had come and the men had a bite to eat we set off to secure the treasure.

We soon found the opening of the bay and rowed into it. Scott had been on the island for over a year and the hut he occupied and the flagstaff he erected were in plain sight. At the end of the bay we came to the cave, and, leaping out of the boat, the captain was the first to enter. A moment later he reappeared and for the next quarter of an hour he cursed as I never heard a seaman before or since. The cave had been plundered. One broken tusk had been left behind, and there was perhaps an ounce of gold dust lying on the spot where Scott emptied the jars. That was proof enough that he had told a straight story. When we landed and went up to the hut, we soon solved the problem. Some whaler had touched there for wood and water. For wood they had used all the wreck stuff lying about and had also partially pulled the hut to pieces. They had filled their casks at the spring, and we could still see the marks where they had been rolled down hill to the boats.

Then the Scotchman did a mean thing by the rescued sailor. He made a great ado of how he had deviated from his course and lost a fortnight's time and insisted that Scott divide with him. I believe he threatened to leave him on the island if he didn't. There was trouble for a few hours, and then the sailor came to terms, but not so much as a penny's worth was ever handed over to the owners or distributed among the crew. Scott was transshipped to a craft bound for Java and that was the last I ever saw or heard of him. A year later, however, I met an American runaway sailor in Batavia, and he told me that his craft, the Bessie Herrick of Marblehead, put in at the island, remained for two days, and her captain discovered the cave and the treasure while fishing in the bay. He gave every man aboard $100 in cash as a present, but kept the dust and the ivory and turned them into cash at Singapore. It was a rich haul of treasure, and the captain must have been made independent for life. How old the island was, how the treasure came to be deposited there, who were the rightful owners of it—well, those are questions I cannot answer. It was at least two years after we visited the place before it was surveyed and chartered.—C. B. Lewis.

SILENT SUFFERERS.

Women do not Like to Tell a Doctor the Details of Their Private Ills.

The reason why so many women suffer in silence from the multiple disorders connected with their sexual system is that they cannot bear to broach the subject to a man, even if he is a physician.

No one can blame a modest, sensitive woman for this reticence. It is unnecessary in these times, however, for a woman makes to all afflicted women a most generous offer. Mrs. Pinkham of Lynn, Mass., bids every woman who suffers to write to her and confide every symptom that annoys her, and she will give her advice without charge, and that advice is based upon the greatest experience ever possessed by man or woman in this country, and extends over a period of twenty-three years, and thousands upon thousands of cases. Why suffer in silence any longer, my sister, when you can get help for the asking? Don't fear to tell her everything.

The case of Mrs. Colony, whose letter to Mrs. Pinkham we publish, is an illustration of the good to be received from Mrs. Pinkham's advice; here is a woman who was sick for years and could get no relief—at last in despair she wrote to Mrs. Pinkham—received in return a prompt, sympathetic and interested reply. Note the result and go and do likewise.

"I was troubled with such an aching in my back and hips, and I felt so tired all the time, and had for four years. For the last year it was all I could do to drag around. I would have such a ringing in my head by spells that it seemed as though I would grow crazy. I ached from my shoulders to my feet and was very nervous. I was also troubled with a white discharge. I wrote to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., received a prompt reply and followed her advice, and now I have no backache and begin to feel as one ought; in fact, I never felt better in ten years than I do now. I thank God that I went doctoring with Mrs. Pinkham, when I did, for if I had not I know I would have been in my grave."

It's a Pleasure

For us to show you through the Cloak stock, and it must be a source of satisfaction to you to know that there is such a strong line at your doors as we carry. People from out of town give us credit for showing much the best line in this section; and we doubt if Wisconsin can produce another cloak department with so great a display as ours. By great we do not mean floor space, but rather the number of new garments and the great variety of the styles. Controlling so many sample lines enables us at all times to show a large number of novelties so entirely at variance with ordinary lines that comparisons are out of the question. As regards price, it is so well known that we save you a third on every coat that the mention of it seems almost unnecessary.

That new line of plush and velour Capes offers some exceptional bargains. Russian Blouses are much in evidence, and they are a dressy garment--that is, the kind we handle are. Two new shipments added to the misses' line makes the display of young ladies' coats about as complete as it could be; these are also samples and priced accordiugly--$2½ and up.

J. M. Thirswend, of Grosbeck, Tex., says that when he has a spell of indigestion, and feels bad and sluggish, he takes two of De Witt's Little Early Risers at night, and he is all right the next morning. Many thousands of others do the same thing. Do you? C. D. Stevens.

Chicago Department Store Burned.

Chicago, Nov. 12.—The Lion department store, 937 and 941 Milwaukee avenue, was burned to the ground Thursday. Despite the work of the fire department the flames destroyed all of the large stock, but the flames did not spread to any other buildings. The Lion store is owned by W. A. Wieboldt & Co., the firm being composed of W. A. Wieboldt and Carl Hansen. The total loss on stock is estimated at $225,000. The insurance will not cover it.

You can't cure consumption but you can avoid it and cure every other form of throat or lung trouble by the use of One Minute Cough Cure. C. D. Stevens.

Farm-Hand (who has just kissed Jones' pretty daughter)—Your desire has my heart's sympathy, sir.—Judge.

WARNING:—Persons who suffer from coughs and colds should heed the warnings of danger and save themselves suffering and fatal results by using One Minute Cough Cure. It is an infallible remedy for coughs, colds, croup and all throat and lung troubles C. D. Stevens.

Unshaken Still.

"A woman's faith in her intuitions is wonderful, isn't it?"

"Yes, indeed! It'll remove mountains of mere fact."—Chicago Journal.

"How can you call a man a Christian who loves himself as that fellow does?"

"Well, I've heard that he is his own worst enemy."—Puck.

J. C. Berry, one of the best known citizens of Spencer, Mo., testifies that he cured himself of the worst kind of piles by using a few boxes of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. He had been troubled with piles for over thirty years and had used many different kinds of so called cures, but DeWitt's was the one that did the work and he will verify this statement if any one wishes to write him C. The Millionaire and His Clerk.

Girard, the infidel millionaire of Philadelphia, one Saturday ordered all his clerks to come on the morrow to his wharf and help unload a newly arrived ship. One young man replied quietly:

"Mr. Girard, I can't work on Sundays."

"You know our rules."

"Yes, I know. I have a mother to support, but I can't work on Sundays."

"Well, step up to the desk and the cashier will settle with you."

For three weeks the young man could find no work, but one day a banker came to Girard to ask if he could recommend a man for a cashier in a new bank. This discharged young man was at once named as a suitable person.

"But," said the banker, "you dismissed him."

"Yes, because he would not work on Sundays. A man who would lose his place for conscience's sake would make a trustworthy cashier." And he was appointed.—Ram's Horn.

There Is a Class of People

Who are injured by the use of coffee. Recently there has been placed in all the grocery stores a new preparation called GRAIN-O, made of pure grains, that takes the place of coffee. The most delicate stomach receives it without distress, and but few can tell it from coffee. It does not cost over ¼ as much. Children may drink it with great benefit. 15 cts. and 25 cts. per package. Try it. Ask for GRAIN-O.

Gloves.

Brilliant colors in gloves are promised. There have been rumors of a gayness in color and workmanship in gloves for some time. It is very doubtful, however, if any especial brilliance in handwear becomes general. People in the long run have too good taste to indulge in anything so unpleasantly conspicuous, although taste is often strangely warped by fashion. But there are symptoms of color in gloves which are still in good taste. Four button, white dressed kid gloves show in the stitching in the back delicate blue, pink, green and brown, and in some cases the binding around the wrist is of the same color. This is not unpleasant, although a glove with broad, heavy, white silk stitching has more character. Walking gloves in dark plum color and green are pretty, with suits of corresponding colors.—New York Times.

Disfigurement for life by burns or scalds may be avoided by using DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve, the great remedy for piles and for all kinds of sores and skin troubles. C. D. Stevens.

To Grocers.

We have direct proof that peddlers of washing-powders say that the stuff they're selling is "made in the same factory" as Pearline—and that buying from them will save going to, or ordering from, the grocery store. Do you want people "saved" that. You have these same washing-powders in stock. Possibly you are giving them out, whenever you can, in place of Pearline. You are trying to push them into notice; they are trying to crowd you out. You think you are "making more money on them." But will it pay you, in the end? 545

Send it Back Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers will tell you "this is as good as" or "the same as Pearline." IT'S FALSE—Pearline is never peddled, and if your grocer sends you something in place of Pearline, be honest—send it back. JAMES PYLE, New York.
